

IS YOUR MICROBREWERY worth THE INVESTMENT?

Hilge
1862

Of course it is! If you're in business to succeed, you only want to spend your time and capital on your brewery's growth—not struggling with the wrong equipment or "off-tasting" products. That's exactly why you should invest in Hilge Pumps. With over 134 years in the brewing industry, Hilge understands what it takes to become a leader.

Built for performance and longevity, Hilge Pumps feature a cold rolled stainless steel case, benefitting you with a superior smooth and clean surface. The "sensi-flow" design provides the most gentle handling, quiet transfer of your products as well as yielding an open, easily CIP design. Our knowledgeable, factory trained engineers can custom match a pump for your brewing application or for your entire brewery.

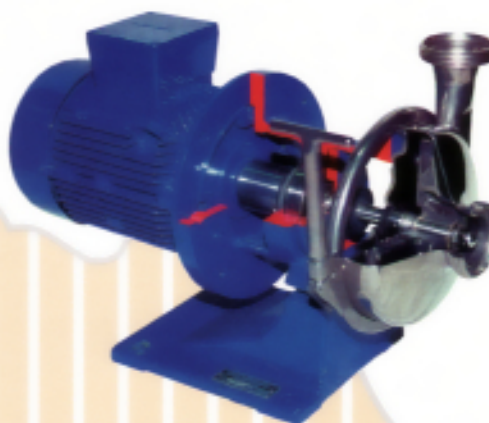

So if you want to get the best return on your investment, take advantage of Hilge's proven experience and innovation over the last century—choose Hilge Pumps. Your best investment!
